

So How Do You Find and Get Your Dream Job or Career?

It's a process and journey that only you can take

Phase 1: Self Awareness (Getting to know yourself)

- Personality (How you are wired will affect how you respond to the world and your job.)
- Abilities (What you do well and don't do well will impact your success at what you attempt to do.)
- Interests (What are your passions that fuel your motivation?)
- Values (What is important to you will affect your choices and your success.)
- Skills (What do you want to do?)
 - Technical (What skills do you want to use to do a specific job?)
 - Transferrable (What skills do you want to take with you from job to job and career to career?)
- Preferred Learning Styles (How you best learn will affect your success.)
- Life Patterns (What do the patterns and themes of your life reveal? Seek freedom, knowledge, security, peace, support, etc.)

Phase 2: Options Exploration (What options are good for you based on who you are?)

- Explore your options (What kinds of jobs reflect your personality, abilities, interests, values, skills, and learning styles?)
 - What kind of working environments fit you? (Stable, hands-on, adventurous, creative, nurturing, goal-oriented, etc.)
- Research your options (Learn about your choices)
 - What is the job like? (Skills and education needed, working conditions, labor market trends, positive and negative traits)
- Education — How much schooling is required to get this job? (H.S. Diploma, Certificate, AA, BS, MS, Ph.D., etc.)
 - What schools offer this kind of education / training? (Colleges, universities, trade schools, etc.)
 - What subjects will you need to study and what skills do you need to learn? (Business, social science, biology, art, etc.)
 - How do you prepare for this education / training program? (Prep classes, entrance exams, references, etc.)

Phase 3: Reflection (What do you think of this information?)

- How well does this goal reflect you? (Well, not at all, somewhat)
- What are the good things about this goal? (Rewarding career, good pay, stable outlook, etc.)
- What are the negative things about this goal? (High stress and burn out, unstable opportunities, too much education, etc.)
- What is your response to what you learned? (How is your “inner voice” speaking to you? Yes, No, or Maybe, etc.)
- What are your next steps? (Set goals, create an education plan, develop job search skills, identify new prospects, etc.)
- Seek help from education and/or career counselors /advisors (Professionals who can help you make wise choices)
- Revise goals as appropriate (New and relevant information, good opportunities, changes in labor market trends, etc.)

Phase 4: Decision Implementation (Setting long-term and short-term goals)

- Education
 - Set your educational goals (What do you want to learn, where do you want to go to school, highest level to pursue)
 - Identify what you need to do to get in (Take assessments and prep classes, provide transcripts, biography, etc.)
 - Develop an education plan (Identify classes you need to take and the order in which you need to take them)
 - Succeed in school (Develop good study habits, seek professional help, find support, learn to navigate helpful resources)
- Career
 - Identify Entry-Level and Transition jobs that will prepare you for your dream job (While you are still learning)
 - Develop good Job-Search Skills (Finding leads, networking, resumes, on-line presence, interviewing, and negotiating, etc.)
 - Get Entry-Level Job (While you are still learning)
 - Identify Transition Jobs (While you are still in your Entry-Level job)

Phase 5: Re-evaluation & Renegotiation (Respond to life by revising plans as needed while on your journey)

- Re-evaluate—What have you learned about your self and your goals based on what happened?
- Renegotiate — Set and achieve new goals based on re-evaluation of self and circumstances
